PROJECT MANAGEMENT AND GOVERNANCE OUTSOURCING

"On average, only 53% of projects are completed within the original budget, and only 49% are completed on time."

- PMI, 2017 Annual Report

Why do projects fail?

- Competing project deadlines and inefficient prioritization
- Resource availability may be limited
- Lack of transparency, visibility, and project monitoring
- Failure to complete and manage project plans
- Inadequate governance and project oversight
- No formal methodology or defined metrics
- Lack of communication with team; not defining the "why"

How can you mitigate the risk of project failures?

Transform your PMO into a strategic value function! To provide an unparalleled customer experience and ensure quality of goods and services, companies must remain focused on their core competencies. Thus, an internal project management office (PMO) may be neglected or given little to no management oversight. Leveraging the expertise of a project management partner enables companies to focus on the effectiveness of their business operations. With more than 25 years of experience, you can trust the project management and governance consulting team at Info-Matrix to provide you with the leadership, oversight, and execution necessary for your projects to stay on track and within the budget. We focus on your desired business outcomes to create and show value in IT projects. We understand the importance of governance, and we have created and refined our methodologies to allow for accountability, continuity, and project success, all at a lower cost.
